Clore Automotive Receives NAPA Supplier Award

Clore Automotive was recently named "NAPA Tools and Equipment Supplier of the Year" at the NAPA Tools and Equipment National Sales Meeting in Atlanta, GA.

Dave Nicki, Vice President, NAPA Tools and Equipment, U.S. Automotive Parts Group, noted upon presenting the award, "While there were many worthy suppliers, Clore Automotive went above and beyond for NAPA in 2008. From products and programs to their proactive approach and quick responsiveness, they have delivered on our vision of what a NAPA supplier can be."

NAPA Tools and Equipment sales team members from throughout the US nominated suppliers for the award, based on a wide range of selection criteria, including sales performance, line leadership, shipping performance, ease of doing business, responsiveness to the needs of the NAPA team, product quality and dynamic promotional support, among others.

Clore Automotive is deeply honored to have received this important award from the NAPA Tools and Equipment Group. "It gives us great pride and satisfaction to have achieved this high honor. We place a great emphasis on delivering real value for our customers and this award is an indicator that we are doing so. It motivates us to strive for even greater performance as we move forward," said Jim Chasm, President and CEO of Clore Automotive.

Clore Automotive is a leader in the design, development and manufacture of automotive service equipment for professionals and consumers, including jump starters, battery chargers, battery testers, battery maintainers, power inverters, cooling system service equipment and automatic transmission fluid exchange equipment.
